THE TOWN OF HAMMONTON.

In connection with the agricultural settlement, a new and thriving town has naturalisation, which presents inducements for any laison, which presents inducements for any limit of business, particularly stores and manufacturies. The Shoc business could be carried on in the place and market to good advantage, also cotton business, and manufactories of agricultural implements, or Foundaries for easing small articles. The improvement has been so rapid as to insure a constant and permanent increase of business. Town lots of a good size, we do not sell small ones, as it would effect the improvement of the place, can be had at from $100 and upwards. Political Aspects.

Congress will show be in session, and among the most important matters which will early occupy the attention of its merabers, will be the preparation for the two great National Conventions, which will convene early in 1860, to nominate candidates for the Presidency.

We did suppose that the opposition would generally unite under the banner of the Republican party, but the recent action of our friends in Politsylvania, in calling a State Convention to elect delegates to a Convention of the opposition party of the whole union, has a significance which is worthy of consideration.

The opposition cannot elect their President without the aid of Pennsylvania; any suggestion which comes from that quarter therefore should receive very respectful attention. While we heartily confess that we prefer the name of Republican to any other, we will frankly admit that we are mere strongly attached to the principles, than to the name of the party, and if the apposition can but carry into effect the principles of the Republican party under some other pame; we go for the success of the principles-though we hope the name of the party will not be changed without some good reason.

Horace Greely's Account of Col. Frenisai. : 11

The hubble are generally aware that Co. T. purchased from a Mexican at an early day a large tract or grant of wild include in land lying among the foot hills of the Sierra Nevada; called by the Mexican's List Midriposas (the Butterfly) after a will flower known to abound here. It is known also that this tract was some years after disposprent of the sich it would be seed the after discovered to be rich in gold, the first vein stone having been taken out by the proprietor's own hand. It is further known that all manner of difficulties and obstructions were interposed to defeat the obstructions were interposed to defeat the confirmation of the grant under which Col. Meantime, the property was wholly unpraductive—that is, to its owner and the most inviting portions of it were and the most inviting portions of it were sufficiently squatters, who claimed, as they still claim a right, to dig its soil into utterly worthess chasms and ed As Mey, still claim, a right to die its soil into utterly worthless, chasms and heaps in senten of gold, to cut down its timber and feed off its grass at their own discretion, Jenving to the fortunate owner only the histollega of paying the taxes which, under the management of public affairs by officers politically and personally libetile to him, have been swelled to no less than $16,000 per annumber of 1800 per committee and which remembershu as they saw fit, and which was yielding him to income whatever. For the feeble effort made at quartzmining ror the recote effort indue at quartanning made in his cellal in his years of absence—in the absence, too, of all successful experience in such milling—only served to involve him still more deeply in debt, which was further avelled by unfortunate which was in their and lead by infortunate agencies and business connections, until the aggregate of his liabilities on account of this property can haidly have falled short of haif a million of dollars.

Such, were the circumstances under which he determined in 1857, to return to his California estate, and here, surrounded, by his family, devote all his time and energies to its improvement and renovation. In the spirit of that determination he has

In the spirit of that determination he has since lived and labored, rising with the lark, and striving to obtain a complete knowledge and mastery of the entire business, taking more and more labor and reaponability on his own shoulders as he fold himself fole to bear it; until he is now Manager, Chief Engineer, Cashier, Accountant, and at the head of every other department but that, of Law, for which he linds it necessary still to rely on professional aid. And his mines are at length becoming productive and profitable. His first (itean) mill, near his dwelling, runs eight stamps night and day, his second (water mill, three miles distant, on the Melecal, at the north end of his estate, runs (welve stamps, also constantly; and the transport of the second.) Of course he needs all the profils, if not more, to extend and perfect his works, having already a much larger matter will manch made to go into a more water-full nearly ready to go into opera-tion beside that on the Merced, in which he expects, I believe, to run fifty-six storaps and he hopes to have one hundred in all running before the close of 1860. With that number I believe he would be able by giving his constant personal attention to the business, aided by faithful and vapable assistants, to realize a net profit of at least $10,000 per week, which would very soon clear him of debt and leave him tmencumbered in the ownership of perhaps the finest mining property in the world.

A WORD TO INVALIDS.

A WORD TO INVALIDS.

All who have any actions or troublesome electrons will very naturally seek advice somewhere, and this lends ine to say a few words on the choice of a physician. And first, let all quacks, impostors and humburs adole. If you have an intolligent physician in your vicinity apply to him immediately, and follow his directions explicitly, and for a sufficient length of time, and he will probably sure, you; if not, then apply to one who makes your disease a specially, for no physician in general practice, no matter how eminent, contract a given disease, or class of diseases, as successfully san one of the same ability, who makes successfully san one of the same ability, who makes such diseases a specially, and devotes his whole attention to them. Educated physicians hitherto have atond alouf from making private diseases a specially, and denote they have been monapolized by quacks.—The fear of lessing caute in succlety, or of being classed among charlotans by the profession, has too long stood in the way of this most desirable result. What disgreed is there in treating a class of diseases specially that all physicians treatin general practice? Ricerd of Paris, and Actum of London, both all physicians are diseases a speciality and yet, their fame is an envisible as it is world-wide. It is in fact the only readed for one of the most technous and destructive systems of quackery in private diseases as practiced in all the larger cities throughout the country.—But to return, I said let quackers and included the larger effects throughout the country.—But to return, I said let quackers and inpostors alone. Their advertisements fill the newspapers and are well ensemblated to deceive the inexperienced, made up as they are of the most extravagmur pretensions, but without a sindow of endence of the truth of what deceptic advertising in itself is no sin, but deceptic advertising and has a housington, and no advertising physician is ensitled, to any confidence worknewer who does not give to the public the most
